Governor to Veto Restrictive Voter ID Legislation Tuesday

More than 85,000 Wisconsin Seniors Lack Photo ID's Required by Republican Proposal

Tomorrow Governor Jim Doyle will veto AB 111, restrictive legislation passed by the Republican-led Legislature that would require individuals to present a photo-ID when voting. According to the State Department of Transportation, more than 123,000 Wisconsin residents, including 85,000 seniors, currently do not have either a driver's license or a state-issued photo ID. The bill would cost taxpayers $850,000 per year.
